Forums Will Examine Long-Term Care for Veterans

RICHMOND—The Virginia Department of Veterans Services (DVS) and the College of William & Mary's Schroeder Center for Healthcare Policy will hold four forums on long-term care for veterans during June and July. At the forums, the Schroeder Center will present a draft report detailing veteran demographics, available health care resources, labor market conditions, and other data. The forums will provide an opportunity for veterans, their family members, healthcare providers, and the general public to comment on long-term care needs for Virginia's veterans. Input gathered at the meetings will be included in the final report, which is expected to be presented to DVS in August.

DVS operates the Virginia Veterans Care Center in Roanoke and will open a second care center adjacent to Richmond's McGuire VA Medical Center later this year. Care at the facilities includes skilled nursing care, assisted living, and Alzheimer's/dementia care.

DVS contracted with the Schroeder Center in March to conduct a study on all aspects of veterans care provided by state-operated facilities in Virginia. The study looked at veterans by age and where they live in Virginia, military bases, existing nursing and assisted living facilities, hospitals, health care systems, and labor market conditions.

"We also examined the role of institutional versus home and community-based care," said Lou Rossiter, Research Professor and Director of the Schroeder Center for Healthcare Policy. "Advances in medical technology make more options for health care available than we have had in the past. The most important element, though, is to provide the highest quality care possible to Virginia's veterans," added Rossiter.

The draft report is available at www.virginiaforveterans.com. Readers can provide feedback using the online comment form.

Forums are scheduled at the following locations.

June 8, 2007	11:00 a.m.	Virginia Beach Central Library 4100 Virginia Beach Blvd Virginia Beach, Virginia
June 12, 2007	10:30 a.m.	American Legion Post 176 6520 Amherst Avenue Springfield, Virginia
June 20, 2007	7:00 p.m.	Virginia Veterans Care Center 4550 Shenandoah Avenue Roanoke, Virginia
July 26, 2007	1 p.m.	American Legion Department of Virginia Bldg 1708 Commonwealth Avenue Richmond, Virginia

The final report will be delivered to DVS in August, and will include recommendations on the types and locations of long-term care facilities needed to serve Virginia's veterans, as well as costs and sources of potential construction funding.
